How do you decide which service is right for you?

It boils down to how comfortable you are with managing your retirement account. If you don't have the time, knowledge or interest to manage your retirement account on an ongoing basis, the Professional Management program may be appropriate. With this fee-based (additional cost) service, VRA does it all for you – from monitoring your investments to implementing transactions and rebalancing your account. VRA will automatically make changes to where (which funds) your monies are invested in and how much money is invested in which funds—they will do this for you and you will receive notice of the changes after they are made. VRA will not change the amount you are contributing to the plan.

The Online Advice service may be appropriate if you want to maintain control over your retirement account. While VRA will provide recommendations on how to invest your account at no additional cost to you, you implement the recommendations and rebalance your portfolio as necessary.
